by William Brown/Antiterrorism and Force Protection Officer/Directorate of Plans, Training, Mobilization and Se-

This August marks the 15th observance of Army Antiterrorism Awareness Month.

This is a time when Army leaders work to instill heightened awareness and vigilance across the force to protect Army critical resources from acts of terror-Anti-Terrorism Awareness Month is an important reminder to all military and civilian personnel about the persistent threats posed by adversaries, and the importance of identifying threats and what to do if a threat is discovered.

Fort Leavenworth will antiterrorism conduct training, education and awareness throughout the month of August. Antiterrorism-related banners have been posted across Fort Leavenworth.

This year the awareness month will focus on the following:

- Active shooter response • Five phases of an active
- shooter Cyber awareness
- Serious activity reporting/iWatch
- Force protection condition measures

No cause for concern for soldiers who do not have this season's influenza vaccine documented in their record Officials plan defense for upcoming flu season

by Munson Army Health Center Public Affairs

It may only be August but public health officials on Fort Leavenworth are already making plans for the upcoming flu season.

"On August 1, an automated action in the Army's medical readiness portal reset the seasonal influenza vaccine status for soldiers' annual flu shot, but in most cases, it is not necessary for soldiers on Fort Leavenworth to get the vaccine yet," Munson Army Health Center Chief of Public Health and Soldier Readiness Maj. Meredith Steggerda said. "This reset occurs annually and is not reflective of inaction of soldiers. It is just a way to track their vaccination status for the new season."

In the past, this reset has resulted in an increased number of inquiries to public health from soldiers, so Steggerda said that she wished to prepare soldiers and beneficiaries in advance.

"Seasonal influenza vaccines are administered to service members annually throughout the Department of Defense to reduce the risk of severe influenza and to minimize risk to the force and mission. The vaccine is also available to other Military Health System beneficiaries aged 6 months and up as a TRICARE-covered benefit because it is the best way to reduce risk from seasonal flu and its potentially serious complications," Steggerda said.

Pending availability, MAHC's Public Health team will begin administering flu vaccines in the fall.

While seasonal influenza vaccines are already being marketed at retail facilities off post, the Centers for Disease Control indicates vaccination in July and August is not recommended for most adults in the United States because vaccine efficacy will peak before the projected conclusion of flu

"For most people on Fort Leavenworth who need only one dose for the season, fall is generally a good time to get vaccinated. This will help provide coverage through the end of the season, which in the continental United States is typically April," Steggerda

Travel abroad to the Southern Hemisphere where flu is more prevalent from April to August, and some medical conditions, could require individuals to get vac-

Individuals who are concerned they might need seasonal influenza vaccine before Fort Leavenworth's annual vaccination efforts can consult with their provider through the secure messaging feature in the MHS GENESIS Patient Portal.

Steggerda and other MAHC officials are currently planning this season's seasonal influenza vaccine outreach events for later this fall and will keep the community updated as the dates draw near. For now, however, she said there is no cause for concern for soldiers on Fort Leavenworth who do not have this season's influenza vaccine documented in their record.

4 local students awarded Fisher House scholarships

by Defense Commissary Agency Press Release

FORT GREGG-ADAMS, Va. - Fisher House Foundation has announced the winners of its annual Scholarships for Military Children program, which awards deserving children of U.S. service members scholarship grants, offering an early boost to their continued educational success.

Fort Leavenworth scholarship recipients are Matthew Parker, Christopher Raithel, Abhilasa Raut and Taylor

This year, the nonprofit foundation awarded 500 children a $2,000 scholarship each for the upcoming 2024-2025 academic year. Fisher House created the program in 2001 in partnership with the Defense Commissary Agency to recognize the contributions of military families to the readiness of the fighting force and to celebrate the commissaries' role in enhancing the military's quality of life.

Marshall Banks, director of community relations at Fisher House Foundation, highlighted ongoing enhancements to the online application process, aimed at meeting the increasing number of student applicants each year.

"The online application process for the 2024-2025 Scholarships for Military Children program was a resounding success," he said. "Our team received over 4,000 applications again this year from 235 commissaries." Banks went on to note that, due to the support from its generous donors, Fisher House Foundation has awarded $23,126,500 in scholarships over the past 24 years.

Each year, scholarship applicants submit their official transcript indicating a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0 or above on a 4.0 scale for high school applicants or a cumulative minimum GPA of 2.5 or above on a 4.0 scale for students already enrolled in college and an essay of 500 words or less, no longer than two pages.

Eligibility for the program is determined using the Defense Enrollment Eligibility Reporting System (DEERS) database. Applicants must ensure that they, as well as their sponsor, are enrolled in DEERS and have a current military dependent ID card. Applicants must also be planning to attend or already be attending an accredited college or university full-time in the fall of 2024, or be enrolled in a program of studies designed to transfer directly into a fouryear program.

Applicants who have been awarded a full scholarship to attend a college or university, or who receive an appointment to one of the military academies or affiliated preparatory schools, are not eligible to receive funds from this program. A full scholarship is usually defined as one that provides for payment of tuition, books, lab fees and other

All rules and requirements for the program, as well as links to frequently asked questions are available at the Scholarships for Military Children website, as is the full list of this year's winners, at https://www.fisherhouse.org/programs/scholarship-programs/scholarships-for-military-

DeCA Director and CEO John Hall attended a scholarship award ceremony at the Fort Gregg-Adams commissary in Virginia on July 18 to present four local student winners with certificates honoring their efforts.

"This is really quite an achievement, so congratulations to the awardees and congratulations to their parents," Hall

Hall added that as a father, he could imagine the parents' state of mind. "Having put four children through college, I know you're going through two emotions right now," he said. "One, you're really proud of your child, justifiably so. You're really proud of your child for achieving this. But the second emotion I know you're going through is 'Thank God! I'm saving $2,000 here!' It's okay to go through both of those, and I congratulate you all because I know you had lot to do with this, too — the way you raised your children to be able to achieve this."

Todd Heasley, DeCA's scholarships program liaison, said the 2025 Fisher House scholarships should open for applications in December and close in February, with exact dates to be determined. Visit https://www.fisherhouse.org/programs/scholarship-programs/scholarships-for-militarychildren/ for more information.

Fisher House Foundation also has a custom scholarship search engine tailored to military families, called "Scholarships for Service." It's free, easy to use, and available on mobile devices or computers at https://www.fisherhouse.org/programs/scholarship-programs/scholarshipsfor-military-children/.

Fisher House Foundation is ranked a four-star charity by Charity Navigator. No government funds are used to support the Scholarships for Military Children program. Commissary vendors, manufacturers, brokers, suppliers and the general public donate money to fund the program.

Feds Feed Families campaign underway

by Mike Perron/Defense Commissary Agency Public Affairs Specialist

FORT GREGG-ADAMS, Va. -June 24 marked the kickoff for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's 15th annual Feds Feed Families campaign, which encourages employees from across the federal government to give in-kind contributions, whether food, services and/or time, to food banks and pantries.

This year's campaign runs through Sept. 30, and is the fifth year the Department of Defense has designated the Defense Commissary Agency to lead its portion of the food donation effort.

The 2023 Feds Feed Families campaign broke records, bringing in more than 10 million pounds of goods donated to food banks across the nation, an increase of more than 2.2 million pounds from 2022. Of the 10 million pounds donated, DoD contributed 5.9 million, or 59 percent, an increase of more than 26 percent from 2022. DeCA's share of DOD's 5.9 million was 4.1 million pounds, or 69 percent, an increase of more than 28 percent. Since Feds Feed Families launched in 2009, more than 117 million pounds of food have been collected for donation.

According to the USDA, 2.8 percent (17 million) of U.S. households were food insecure at some time during 2022, the most recent year for which data is available. Food price inflation continues to exacerbate the problem in help collect those items indicated as most-needed by food pantries and then donate them to food banks local to their area.

Eligible commissary customers and employees have a number of options to participate

- By bringing items from home and dropping them off at donation bins at the front of stores
- By purchasing needed food for donation while shopping at commissaries
- By purchasing standardized, $25 prepackaged donation bags, only available when using the agency's Commissary CLICK2GO online ordering, curbside pick-up service this year. The donation bags contain store brand items such as Freedom's Choice products, including canned meat, canned vegetables, pasta, pasta sauce and other items.

While checking out, cashiers will ask if patrons have any donations to be rung up first, so customers should place those items together in their carts for ease of

Once collected, commissaries work closely with installation officials to get the donations directly to local food banks.

Typically, the most-needed items include:

- Canned vegetables (low sodium or no salt preferred)
- Canned fruits (in light syrup or their own juices)
- Canned proteins such as tuna, salmon, chicken, peanut butter and beans
- Soups such as beef stew, chili, chicken, turkey or rice

based sauces, light soy sauce, ketchup, mustard, salad dressing

- · Snacks, including individually packed healthy snacks, such as trail mix, dried fruit, granola and cereal bars
  - Multigrain cereals

or oils

- 100 percent juice (all sizes, including juice boxes)

CHATEAUROUX, France — Sgt. Sagen Maddalena won the silver medal in women's 50-meter rifle three positions Aug. 2 at the 2024 Olympic Games in Chateauroux, France. Maddalena is a marksmanship instructor and competitive shooter for the U.S. Army Marksmanship Unit stationed out of Fort Moore (formerly Fort Benning), Georgia.

Maddalena earned a place in the finals of the top eight competitors after setting an Olympic qualification record with a score of 593-45x. China's Qiongyue Zhang followed close behind with a 593-40x.

Once in the final, the U.S. Army Marksmanship Unit soldier took the lead after the first five kneeling shots with a 52.2 and held her first-place lead after 10 shots with 104.4. Austria's Nadine Ungerank followed with a 104. Moving into the prone position, with 15 shots in, the Groveland, California, native slipped down to fourth with a 155.9, as Switzerland's Chiara Leone took the lead with a 156.2. Ungerank and Zhang followed in second and third.

However, after another five shots, Maddalena took the lead again with a 208.2, with China just .1 away. Maddalena spread the gap after 25 shots with a score of 261.2 while Zhang held second with a 260.4. With 30 shots into the final, Maddalena continued to lead with 314.0 points.

After five shots in the standing position, Maddalena slipped down to fifth with a 361.8 while Zhang moved into first place with a 364.7. Norway, Switzerland and Austria followed respectively. With five more shots into the standing position, the Fort Moore soldier moved up to fourth. By shot 42, Maddalena had taken the lead again with 433.6 points, a .2 lead over Leone.

Shot 43 brought Maddalena into the final three competitors, ensuring an Olympic medal. At that moment, she had 443.0 points, while Zhang was in second with a .2 point lead, and Leone was first with .9 point lead.

The Fort Leavenworth Chapel Community hosted its annual Vacation Bible School for Fort Leavenworth youth Aug. 6-8 at Frontier and Pioneer Chapels.

This year's theme was "SCUBA: Diving Into Friendship with God." The theme's overall goal was to appeal to children in an underwater world complete with pirates, hidden treasure chests and songs that glorify the name of God. Decorations included depictions of the ocean that included a submarine and sharks and divers swimming overhead.

Shelly Wilson, crafts leader, portrayed the pirate "Captain Ruby" in a skit performed as children arrived at the crafts station. Children were able to interact with Captain Ruby, as she granted each child with a "prize from the sky" as toys rained down from her sails in the pirate ship-themed hallway.

Wilson said that VBS themes change

"Last year's theme was 'Outer Space,' and the kids really enjoyed that. This year we added a unique look to the hallways to make things more realistic during our session," she said.

There were more than 90 volunteers and 177 children registered in this year's VBS. Bible school volunteers guided children in grade-level groups ranging from pre-kindergarten through fifth grade in various activities that related to what faith means.

"Appealing to the children was our main goal, especially with our activities and themes," said Amy Quinlan, volunteer song and dance leader for VBS. "My prayer is that they will feel the truth that Jesus is real and that he wants a relationship with them... I've seen the impact VBS has on the younger children, so it's easier to be optimistic about our outreach to older kids as well."

On the first day of Vacation Bible School, children were introduced to outdoor games like cardboard basketball and beach ball tossing. Fourth-grader Evan Foley gave credit to God for his competitiveness during the outdoor session.

"God can help me with tough challenges, and so far I've had fun," he said.

VBS leaders worked to impart the overall theme of VBS to the children, particularly by "diving" into specific scripture.

Garrison Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Nathan McLean was the speaker for the children's Bible reading session. McLean discussed chapters in the book of 1 Kings, demonstrating to children the essence of what it means to believe in God. McLean encouraged children to take home what they have learned and to exercise their faith beyond Vacation Bible School.

New provider

Munson Army Health Center welcomes the facility's newest health care provider, Maj. Vincent Krause. Krause is a family nurse practitioner who provides primary care, physical examinations, diagnostic testing and patient referrals for patients enrolled at the health center.

He first joined the Army as a med-surg nurse at Fort Belvoir, Virginia. After completing the Critical Care Nurse Course, he worked in an intensive care unit at Madigan Army Medical Center, Joint Base Lewis-McChord, Washington.

Later he applied and was selected for the Army's advanced education assistance program, Long Term Health Education and Training. This program paid for him to attend school full-time at Jacksonville University, Jacksonville, Florida, where he earned his doctor of nursing practice — family nurse practitioner.

Krause's last assignment was at Fort Moore, Georgia, working as a nurse practitioner and battalion surgeon. Krause also holds a certification as an emergency nurse practitioner.

Air Assault graduate

Munson Army Health Center congratulates teams' newest Air Assault graduate, U.S. Army Dentist Capt. Kyle Wilson, officer charge, Smith Dental Clinic. Air Assault improves readiness providing the Army versatile soldiers who can lead joint airground operations including medical evacuations, and troop equipment movement enabling ready medical force through elevated proficiency.
